

COLLABORATION CONTROL SYSTEM

Abstract of the Disclosure

[0034] A collaboration control system and method for managing use of a plurality of resources includes a user information collection routine for collecting user account information for a user using the resources and creating an LDAP user account entry. A mirror routine automatically generates mirror persons from the user account entry and maintains the mirror persons within the resources to identify the user across the resources.